WELCOME TO PERELANDRA

Celebrating the Power of the Individual

by Machaelle Wright
Founder of Perelandra

PERELANDRA CELEBRATES the power of the individual. Everything we offer is geared to the individual and his or her quest to live in balanced and environmentally friendly ways in three main areas: environment, health and soil-less gardens (i.e., business, home, special projects, the creative arts—all “gardens” that do not grow in soil).

At Perelandra we increase the power of the individual tenfold by including an element that is guaranteed to provide balance in all areas of our lives: nature intelligence. The current global crisis is an excellent demonstration of what we humans don't know about interfacing with nature's planet and about balance as it relates to every aspect of our lives and health. Well, here's an interesting idea: How about allowing nature—the intelligence inherent in that nature—to join us in equal partnership to give us the input we need to make new decisions and live in new ways that have a strong, positive impact on our lives and our health as well as the planet?

Sometimes it is difficult to understand the power of one person living in a world of billions of others. Here's a little exercise to help. Take a moment to think about the breadth and depth of the environmental disasters we face today. Think about the air pollution and the health effects we experience when we breathe that air. Think about the serious water issues we face: the pollution, the scarcity, the looming wars over water. Think about the deteriorating soil quality, the dying oceans, the endangered wildlife, the increasing occurrences of wild fires that each year are more severe than the last. And think about the critical issue of global warming and its ramifications for everyone and everything around the world.

Now think about this: Every one of these problems has been created by us humans over a relatively short period of time. By “us” I don't mean large groups or global populations acting in concert. These disasters have been created by individuals acting independently. By “us” I am referring to you, me, our spouses, each of our children, our grandfathers, our grandmothers, our cousins... Our current crises were created by each of us acting independently and establishing a personal and professional lifestyle that was environmentally deaf, dumb and blind.

The needed coordination between governments and industry to turn these crises around will never succeed if we as individuals don't join in the efforts. If the same number of individuals who created the problem focused on what they need to do on the personal level to live an environmentally conscious life, we could turn the global problems around in an amazingly short time. I believe in the power of the individual and I believe in the importance of our acting responsibly as individuals without waiting for the right leader or group. In actuality, it's the power of the individual that leads the way.

Now imagine what we individuals could accomplish if we teamed up with the greatest authority in the field of balance—nature—to help us personally to make the best decisions for improving our lives and our planet. Imagine what it would be like if individual scientists not only made discoveries that could unravel the environmental mess we have created but also made new discoveries that didn't add to or perpetuate the problems.

Perelandra is all about giving you the information and tools for creating just such a partnership for addressing every aspect of your life and work. In his 2007 speech on the acceptance of the Nobel Peace Prize, Al Gore said: “It is time to make peace with the planet.” To this I add,

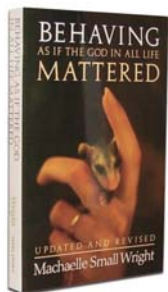

It is time to make peace with nature.

While we're talking about celebrating, it's Perelandra's 30th anniversary! Thirty years of growth, change and reaching out to a lot of folks in the U.S. and around the world who like using what we have to offer. You folks have made our thirty years possible, and it's hearing about how the different Perelandra tools have improved your health, your environment and your life that make being here at Perelandra so rewarding. So I thank you for your interest and your support.

*With best wishes,
Machaelle*

THE PERELANDRA ESSENCES*

THE HUMAN ELECTRIC SYSTEM

The human electric system is a vast network of circuits that runs through and around the body. Every element, every organ, every system in the human body has its electric circuits. And every level of being (physical, emotional, mental and soul) has its own electric circuits. The most extensive and complex system in the body is its electric system.

The Perelandra Essences are water-based solutions holding electrical patterns derived from nature that balance, stabilize and repair weakened or damaged circuits.

We focus on our electric system because it is the key to healing. The underlying foundation for the body's healing process is its electric system. If circuits are damaged, the healing process is compromised and weakened. If damaged circuits are repaired, the body's healing process becomes fully functional.

Whether for illness or injury, the electrical patterns from the correct Perelandra Essences immediately fuse with the damaged circuits, thus providing the balancing elements needed for their repair. That allows the electric system and the body to set up the appropriate healing responses. In short, you have a fully functioning healing process, and you will experience a quick recovery that defies all expectation.

THE PERELANDRA ESSENCES

There are five different sets of Perelandra Essences that work in combination with one another and cover the full range of what's needed to balance, stabilize and repair an electric system: Rose, Garden, Rose II, Soul Ray and Nature Program. The electrical patterns contained in each bottle are set in a water-based solution that is preserved with brandy or white vinegar for safety and longevity. These patterns address different circuitry in your electric system and different kinds of circuit damage. The Essences are bottled in concentrate form in pharmaceutical dropper bottles that make it easy for you to place one drop of a needed Essence on your tongue. Because they are used one drop at a time and because they are well-preserved, each bottle has an indefinite shelf-life. You'll be keeping and using these sets for many years.

THE BOOK: *THE PERELANDRA ESSENCES

This book is your owner's manual for the Perelandra Essences and includes all the information you'll need for using the Essences for all situations. It also has expanded information for using ETS Plus with Essences.

BRINGING OUR CATALOG INTO THE 21ST CENTURY!

One of the things that has kept us going over thirty years is flexibility, including our ability to shift and change how we reach out to you. Our catalog has changed dramatically as we have grown. But the most frequent word we hear from folks seeing our previous catalog for the first time is “overwhelming.” Well, with this new catalog, we have removed the overwhelm! We’ve highlighted the “favorites,” combined them with some 21st century technology and came up with what we feel is an exciting catalog option. Our old fifty-page catalog has been streamlined to four pages. Many of you told us you didn’t want all that blah-blah information, so we’re describing products in this new catalog without forcing you into a “graduate program.” However, if you want the full information on any of these products, go to our website. It’s all there.

With this, we are also introducing the Perelandra eCatalog. The paper catalog and the eCatalog are the same, except that the eCatalog is interactive with our website. When you open the eCatalog to the electronic device of your choice that has internet access, you will notice that each product listed is linked to its product page on our website. So if you are looking at the eCatalog and you want more information, click the link and presto, you’re now looking at the product page with the expanded information, customer comments and, with the books, a link to read the first chapter.

HEADS UP: If you are looking at your new eCatalog you can switch back and forth from the eCatalog to the different product pages seamlessly. And if you’d like to see our full array of products and information (kits and combos, specials, DVDs, CDs, papers, educational articles . . .), click the blue button below and visit our web store. If you are in the web store and you want to return to this simple eCatalog, just click the “back” button in your browser, or the eCatalog tab on your screen. And voila, you’re back!

We will automatically announce a new catalog to everyone on our EarthSave list and include the link to the eCatalog. You may also access the eCatalog from our website’s home page, just look for a gold button like the one below.

For sharing information with others, you can now just email the link to the eCatalog to those who might be interested in what Perelandra has to offer. Because it has been so streamlined, it will be an easy download for everyone. (If someone you know might be interested in a specific product, you can still email them the link from just that single product page.)

If you would like a paper catalog, just request a “paper catalog” through our website or call our order line. Both the eCatalog and paper catalog are available at no charge.
